LGT Vestra LLP appoints Mark Myers as strategic adviser to Financial Mutuals team

- British Friendly Society CEO, Mark Myers to join LGT Vestra
- Enhance service offering to Friendly Societies and Financial Mutuals

LGT Vestra announces the appointment of Mark Myers to its Financial Mutuals team as a strategic adviser.

Mark is stepping down in 2017 from his position as CEO of leading protection provider British Friendly Society after nearly seven years in the role. Mark's vision and forward thinking on the opportunities for the Friendly Societies sector are well known, and his appointment further strengthens LGT Vestra's positioning within this market.

Mark will advise LGT Vestra on enhancing its already strong position in the market, ensuring the firm continually improves its service offering to the Friendly Societies and Financial Mutuals, to meet this sector's ever increasing complex needs.

David Scott, Chairman of LGT Vestra said: "We are delighted to have someone of Mark's standing in the industry join our firm to help us continue to grow and develop our services to Friendly Societies and Financial Mutuals."

Jacqueline Crawley, Partner and Head of Friendly Societies and Financial Mutuals team at LGT Vestra said: "We are excited to have Mark on the team to drive forward our proposition in the sector. Mark's pro-active approach and first hand-experience of the challenges faced by Friendly Societies and Financial Mutuals will add a new dimension to our service."
